Violation Number	Nature of Noncompliance
-------------------------	--------------------------------

1

On February 28, 2024, Mr. Davilla began telehealth treatment sessions and participated in a total of four sessions. During treatment, Mr. Davilla was resistant. He expressed to both the clinician and the Probation Officer that he is currently aware and responsible enough to make better decisions, he will not allow other influences to jeopardize his term of supervised release. On April 1, 2024, the undersigned Probation Officer received an unsuccessful discharge summary from Somerset Psychological Group stating that although Mr. Davilla has been polite and pleasant, he is unwilling to engage with mental health treatment and was discharged.

U.S. Probation Officer Action:

Mr. Davilla was verbally reprimanded for the above noted violation. He was encouraged to engage with the mental health treatment as he can gain long term benefits. Mr. Davilla respectfully declined the instructions and asked for the opportunity to prove himself. He will continue to be monitored through home and office visits as well as various collaterals contacts to ensure he remains in compliance with supervision. Mr. Davilla is currently employed and has stable housing. He also has a strong support system through family. We are not recommending any court action to be taken. We will continue to monitor his compliance and notify Your Honor of any additional noncompliance.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN M. SMALLEY, Chief
U.S. Probation Officer
